

ERKAN Turgut, IT Specialist

Istanbul, Turkey, 0(535) 065 14 75, turguterkan55@gmail.com

LINKS	LinkedIn , Medium
-------	---------------------------------------------------

PROFILE	I am a Computer and Technology Science student aiming to specialize in software development and digital marketing. I am proficient in programming languages such as C#, Java and Python and have developed competencies in artificial intelligence, full-stack development and database management. I have experience designing customer-centric web solutions using WordPress. I also produce software training content on the coderrzone platform. I continue to improve my problem solving and teamwork skills by taking an active role in innovative projects.
---------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Jul 2023 — Present	FREELANCE DEVELOPER, [FIVERR ,UPWORK] ISTANBUL
	I work on software development and web design as a freelancer. I develop software projects with languages such as Python, C#, and Java, as well as design websites for my clients using WordPress. In each project, I take care to create quality and efficient work by offering customized solutions for the needs of my customers. I focus on success by prioritizing flexibility and customer satisfaction in my freelance work.

EDUCATION

Sep 2022 — Present	Bachelor Degree, Bartın University BARTIN
	Computer Technology and Information Systems (CTIS) department offers students a comprehensive education in computer technologies and digital systems. The focus is on areas such as software development, database management, network systems, computer engineering, artificial intelligence and data analysis.

S KILLS	Java	Skillful	C#	Skillful
	JavaScript	Skillful	Wordpress	Experienced
	Microsoft Office	Expert	Bootstrap5	Experienced
	Python	Skillful	Management	Experienced
	HTML	Expert	Team work	Expert
	CSS	Experienced

LANGUAGES	English	B1
	Turkish	Native speaker

HOBBIES	My hobbies include software development and learning new technologies. Apart from that, I am interested in game development processes and I love making projects with tools like Unity. Also, exploring digital marketing and social media strategies is another area that interests me. In my free time, I prefer to read books and follow content related to technology and business. I also love traveling and exploring different cultures.
---------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------